

Childhood is a never-ending quest
The prize: Adoration
You crave it
If you encounter retaliation
You crumble
The world seemed austere
And colorless
Until someone says “I love you” again

— Addie S., Grade 10