

Where I'm From

by Hanna Sellinger '19

I come from..

One castle on top of the hill; my humble abode

Two parents; my definition of true love

Three different shades of my hair; bleach blonde, brown, and jet black

Four siblings; biological and step, near and far, new and old, boys and girls

Five, the year I first kicked a soccer ball and found my first love

Six nieces and nephews making me an aunt since day one

Seven hours spent on the beach every day all summer, roasting my skin and bleaching my hair

Eight, the grade I made the decision of a lifetime – Holy Child

Nine obnoxiously loud dogs I've had over the years

Ten lifelong friends since preschool

But more importantly..

I come from endless amounts of laughs

Never ending smiles from ear to ear

An unthinkable amount of dance parties

And an infinite amount of memories that I have to carry with me.
